

T4P

4

Threshold for Platelets study (T4P): a prospective randomised trial to define the platelet count below which critically ill patients should receive a platelet transfusion prior to an invasive procedure

Are you interested in getting involved in research?

Want more certificates for your portfolio?

Want to be part of an important study to change clinical practice?

API Scheme

Contact your research team

T4P Training

